

TRIED TO MAKE A SNEAK

Tough Mr. Black Attempts to Break From the County Jail.

JUST IN THE NICK OF TIME

He is Discovered and His Escape Prevented—In the District Court—Court House Gossip.

BUTTE, Aug. 10.—The man Black, who recently shot at a policeman and got the worst of it has about recovered from his wound, but still carries the bullet in his leg and refuses to have it removed, feeling rather proud of carrying it. Until today he was confined in the new department of the county jail but was caught in the act of attempting to break out and was locked up in one of the inside cells. When discovered he had already entirely sawed one of the iron bars off a window, and if his work had not been found by the sheriff just when it was Black would probably have made his escape. His name on the county jail book appears as Alfred Carroll, but it is known that his right name is Black and that he has a brother in the Cour d'Alene country. It was stated when he was first arrested that Black was wanted up there for taking part in the Gem fight, but no word has been received from there to that effect. Black has not yet had his hearing for attempting to kill a policeman.

At Fook, one of the principals in the Chinese shooting scrape, has so far recovered from his wounds that he was brought in from the county hospital and confined in the county jail for safe keeping. Sam Lee, the other principal to the fight, is still at the hospital and in a critical condition, and it is not considered probable that he will recover. Four Chinese witnesses who have been in jail since the day of the shooting, were today released on $100 bail each. Bail for Ah Fook was refused. He will not have a hearing until the result of Sam Lee's wounds is known.

New Cases in Court.

Ruth F. Leggat, through her attorney, William Seaton, has commenced an action in the district court against John A. Leggat, and alleges in her complaint that on Aug. 1, 1889, the defendant received $500 from Patrick Mullane for the plaintiff, and that he unjustly retained the money to his own use. The plaintiff says she had demanded the money, but it has never been paid, either in part or in the whole, and she asks judgment for the amount, with interest at 10 per cent, and costs of suit.

A notice was filed of the pendency of an action of the Montana Roofing and Paving company against Charles Shinn and Henry Criegle for the foreclosure of a lien on a house, and lot 5, block 14, of the Butte townsite, the premises being leased by Shinn for a term of three years at $50 a month in advance.

An answer was filed today in the case of Miller & Chapman against James F. Barry, Oliver M. Hall appearing as attorney for the defendant.

Court House Notes.

MacKay, the man who was sent to the county jail a week ago on the charge of insanity, is improving and will probably be liberated without an examination.

The number of prisoners in jail is decreasing, there being but 67 at present. The court house janitor today surprised the natives by starting in to wash some of the windows.

The beautiful May lode in Divide creek district has been located by Thomas Bolman and others, and the Tammany placer in the Blacktail canyon by Mrs. Carrie Chapman, Mrs. John Swinton and nine others.

A power of attorney from Nettie E. Casper to A. J. Davis has been filed for record.

A copy of a decree of distribution and final settlement in the matter of the estate of John E. Greenland, deceased, was recorded today.

Gordon Sherman, who was fined $25 by Judge McMurphy for resisting Officer Wilson, has taken an appeal to the district court and gave a $25 bond. His attorney thinks the lower court made a great mistake in fining Sherman after Wilson had been suspended by the police commission for clubbing Sherman.

CONSIDERATE ROAD AGENTS.

They Leave the Man They Hold Up His Keys and Jackknife.

BUTTE, Aug. 10.—Joseph Fay, an employee at the Parrot smelter, had a decidedly exciting experience with a couple of road agents last night. Mr. Fay resides near the smelter and was up town last evening until about 10:30 o'clock, when he started to go home. When about 50 yards below Mahoney's boiler works in Nevada street, he suddenly found himself confronted by two men, one of whom ordered him to hold up his hands, at the same time pointing a cocked pistol squarely in his face. No time was lost by Mr. Fay in obeying the order and as soon as his arms and hands had assumed the proper degree of perpendicularity, the second footpad began to search his pockets and speedily relieved him of $80, all the money Mr. Fay had with him. In the pocket in which the money was contained was also a large jackknife, which the searcher put back into the pocket as he did also a bunch of keys which he found in another pocket. After robbing him, Mr. Fay says, the men walked leisurely away and disappeared in the darkness. Mr. Fay says that neither of the men were masked, neither did they make any attempt to hide their faces. He describes one of the men as being short and heavy set, with a dark moustache, while the other was quite tall, with a smooth face and features drawn as if a confirmed morphine or opium user. He reported the affair at police headquarters today and left a description of the men who robbed him.

BARBER SMITH'S TROUBLES.

He is Brought Before the Court on a Charge of Burglary.

BUTTE, Aug. 10.—This morning Thomas E. Smith was given preliminary hearing before Judge McMurphy on a charge of burglary in the first degree. Smith, who is a barber, was arrested last week at No. 321 West Park street, while searching a room in the same building, but occupied by another roomer named Leeper. On the night of his arrest Smith was out rather late and went home with a generous jag on board. In looking for his room, so he says, by mistake he entered that occupied by Leeper, whom he awoke. Leeper jumped out of bed and made for Smith, who ran out of the house and, after a short chase, was overtaken by Leeper, who knocked him down and held him until the arrival of an officer, who appeared in response to Leeper's yell for assistance. Leeper says that Smith's presence in the room was not an accident, but the result of design, claiming that when he awoke he saw Smith searching the pockets of his trousers, which were lying on a chair standing near the head of the bed.

COUNT MULLANE COMING.

He is Engaged to Pitch the Ball for the Butte Team.

BUTTE, Aug. 10.—Manager Powell today secured the great and only Tony Mullane to pitch for the Butte team for the remainder of the season. This is the most interesting piece of base ball news that has been published in Montana this year, and it will prove a shock to the other clubs like unto a piece of ice being poked down a man's neck on a hot day. Mullane is one of the most famous as well as one of the most successful pitchers in America, and Butte is in the biggest kind of luck to get him even for so short a time as intervenes between now and the closing of the season. For the past five years, and up to a few weeks ago he has been continuously with the Cincinnati Reds and was their most successful pitcher during all of that time. Last year Cincinnati had Mullane, Radbourne, Riddes, "Cy Young," Duryea, Cruise and Stephens in the box at different times, and the former stood head and shoulders above them all, as was shown in the averages compiled at the end of the season. During the first series of games this year, Tony was Cincinnati's chief stand-by and pitched winning ball all the way through. At the end of the first half of the season, however, when Harrington returned to Cincinnati from Butte, there was a general cut in salaries and Mullane suffered in common with the other "Reds," his salary being reduced from $4,000 a year to $3,200. Tony promptly quit on being advised of this and would not listen to any overtures from Captain Coniskey, President Brush or anybody else. "Conny" then got up on his high horse, refused to make any more advances and decided to let the "count" sweat, and that is just exactly how Butte happened to get him.

About two weeks before the first series of games clocked Manager Powell suggested an exchange of King for Mullane and later he offered to give Amos Rusie, New York's star twirler, for the "count." Captain Coniskey was willing, but President Brush blocked the deal. President Brush says that Mullane will stay in retirement until he accepts his terms, and Tony says he will never do that, so Butte's chances for holding him until the end of the season seem good. Mullane is one of the few wealthy ball players and does not need to play ball or do anything else for a living, unless he wants to. It is his lavish spending of money that has earned him the name of "count." It is more than likely that Jerry Harrington has been filling him full of exaggerated stories about Montana and he is possibly coming out here under the impression that he will be showered with $20 gold pieces or presented with a deed to a mine every time he strikes a man out or makes a particularly brilliant play. The real truth of the matter is, however, that Mullane is coming out here more on a pleasure trip than anything else and after the season closes he will go on to the coast and down into California. That he will "make monkeys" of his opponents goes without saying and it is Butte's good fortune now sure, Spokane and Portland who play exhibition games here at the close of the season will both be given warm receptions and will no doubt be compelled to succumb to the prowess of the mighty Tony's arm.

In addition to all his other good points, Mullane is ambidextrous and pitches with either arm, which gives him an immense advantage over ordinary twirlers. It is almost impossible for a man to steal bases on him, as, with a man on first, he turns and faces the bag and pitches left handed. He will prove a big drawing card, and will be greeted by the biggest crowd of the season when he pitches his first game here. Out of the 26 leading pitchers in the league last year Mullane stood 13th. He pitched in 49 games and won 51 per cent of them. His opponents secured an average of 3.52 runs per game, 136 per cent of them being earned. His opponents secured 212 base hits, and he struck out 117 of them. He fielded his position well, having an average of .862, and his batting average was .159. His record this year is even better. During the first series of games out of the 42 pitchers in the league Mullane officiated in more games than any other twirler, 32, and still ranked 11th. In the matter of earned runs per game secured by his opponents he led with a percentage of 1.65. His opponents went to bat 1,029 times, scored 117 runs, 218 base hits and 51 earned runs, and the percentage of base hits was .212. His batting average was .174 and his fielding average .968. Mullane left Chicago this evening and will arrive here at 2:30 Saturday morning. He will go in the box against Phillipsburg on Sunday unless the latter team gets frightened and stays at home.

TALK ABOUT WILSON'S CASE

Mayor Mantle's Views Regarding the Action Taken in Suspending the Police Court Officer.

BUTTE, Aug. 10.—The action of the police commission in recommending the suspension of Court Officer Wilson for his alleged brutality in arresting Gordon Sherman at the court house a few days ago, has aroused considerable talk in regard to this case in particular and the Butte police force in general. The general impression, especially among those who witnessed the affair, seems to be that while Wilson has always borne the reputation of being a good officer, he exceeded his authority in this instance, and treated the man with a little more harshness than was necessary in addition to being largely responsible for the trouble. The only question seems to be whether or not the suspension of an officer on such a charge at this time will not make the lobo element of the city more bold, and prompted by this fear, many people are in favor of simply giving the officer a severe reprimand and letting it go at that. Mayor Mantle today gave his view of the matter and made some suggestions in regard to the government of the police force, which the council would do well to get upon. He said: "In arresting this man Sherman there is no doubt that Wilson exceeded his authority by beating him over the head with his pistol as he did, and there is no doubt in my mind that he should be punished for it in some way, but at the same time there are so many tough characters in the city just now that I am a little afraid of the effect of suspending an officer for such an offense. He is certainly deserving of a reprimand, but a suspension might interfere with the efficiency of the police force, and that is something that must be guarded against at all times. We do not want the police to get into their heads that they are expected to treat professional hoboes with any great amount of kindness and at the same time we do not want them to club men with the butt end of their guns without good and sufficient cause. I think that Wilson should be at least severely reprimanded, but farther than this I will not say except that I will not be very apt to interfere with whatever action the council may take in the matter."

"It seems to me," continued Mr. Mantle, "that what is needed just now is a short set of rules for the police force, governing their actions as officers and their general conduct and deportment. There is no denying the fact that the discipline of the force is not as good as it should be. A general looseness prevails in the police departments of all western towns, and it is especially noticeable in Butte. I don't suppose it would be quite the thing to attempt to govern the police by rules as strict as those which are in vogue in the older eastern cities, but at the same time I don't think it is right for them to go into saloons while on duty as often as they do or for them to be indulging among themselves and associating with every one who happens to come along as much as they do. They should maintain a more dignified manner and keep themselves to themselves, so to speak. They should not interfere in other people's business, and in no case should they start an altercation or pick a quarrel with anyone. While I do not by any means expect a man to surrender his manhood simply because he puts on a blue uniform, he should at the same time stand a little more than an ordinary citizen and not rush in and arrest some poor fellow on a trivial offense simply because he has the power and authority to do so."

"Then there are a good many men put on the force who have never served before and who do not know their legal duties, and the best way to inform them of these duties is to have a set of rules governing their general deportment. It is through a set of rules compactly arranged which they can read and get posted. I don't want you to think that I am roasting the police force now, for I am not. I think we have a good set of orders here, but it would be better for themselves and the police commission and everybody else if they had a guide to go by. Then, too, the police commission would have something definite to go by when charges were preferred against an officer we could turn to the rules and see whether any of them had been violated or not and the matter would be easily and quickly settled. As it is now the commission has nothing to go by and is compelled to simply take a common sense view of the situation and decide accordingly."

The mayor has submitted a list of the St. Paul police rules with instructions to select and formulate the regulations governing the police which will apply to Butte, and it is probable that a set of rules for the government of the police department will be adopted at an early meeting of the council.
